Digital Brainstorm Sticky Note App

Our solution to the major problem, that is student motivation for education, is a digital sticky note application Brainstorm. With the use of this application students will be able to give their teachers direct questions and or suggestions on how to improve their learning experience. This application gives students a way of how to engage in not only the learning process but also in the preparation of the curriculum, from which they are gaining their knowledge from. The creation of a dedicated server that allows multiple students to interact with the Brainstorm application is still in the works, but if given more time, this could be easily done and thus improving the overall experience of both the students and the teachers.
